Companies in all markets are recognizing the need to apply world class manufacturing techniques. Elimination of waste is critical to survival in the new global economy. This text contains over 40 stories, case studies and examples in a "Chicken Soup for the Soul" type of format. Short stories meant to inspire and encourage others on the path toward their "world class" vision. Written by Shingo Prize recipient Gary Conner, these real life stories have been collected throughout his 20+ years of consulting, training and kaizen facilitation. Hundreds of continuous improvement events and thousands of team members are chronicled in this fun, easy to read collection of short stories. Some are inspiring, some are just for fun, either way; a moral can be found in each story.
